

Date: September 19th, 2016

Dear colleagues,

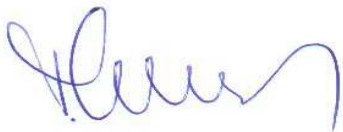

It is my pleasure to welcome all the participants of the anniversary International Forum on cost engineering!

Nowadays for the project management professionals the issues of effective and efficient cost controls have come to the fore. When delivering large-scale projects, our company is on a regular basis applying a set of methods and software solutions, which enable efficient and transparent cost management, provide monitoring of the initially estimated costs and ensure the intended use of the investments. Nowadays most Russian project-intensive companies are also facing these tasks.

It is very important to emphasize the effort of the event's organizers, who have become the first in Russia to launch the activities related to promoting and developing cost engineering as a cross-disciplinary specialty.

We obviously see the success of these efforts, which, among other things, is indicated by the continuous growth of the number of the Forum attendees.

Finally allow me on behalf of the FND Partner Hub to wish all the Russian cost management specialists and representatives of the related professional areas, interested in the Forum agenda, a successful and fruitful work at the event!

Tekin Guvercin, CEO of FND S.C

Future Network Development is a partner network created by a group of international solution providers. It offers a number of leading project management solutions, including ASTA Powerproject, TILOS, ISETIA, CostOS and Project Tracker. FND is fortunate to partner with best-in-class providers of solutions and technologies that aid our mission to positively impact our customer's people and processes.